

Freedom From Violence: Preventing Violence Against Women With Disabilities

(FFV: PVAWD)

A Workshop for Disability Service Providers and Domestic/Sexual Violence Prevention Advocates

7 - Continuing Education Credit/Contact Hours for MFT/LCSW/RN Available!

A Project of the California Department of Health Services (CDHS)
Epidemiology and Prevention for Injury Control (EPIC) Branch
Administered and Presented by Transforming Communities:
Technical Assistance, Training and Resource Center (TC-TAT)

This workshop will focus on enhancing the ability of disability service providers and violence prevention advocates to: prevent violence against women with disabilities; create culturally appropriate responses for women with disabilities who have experienced violence; and foster working relationships between disability service providers and domestic/sexual violence prevention advocates.

Participants who attend this workshop will further be able to:

- Discuss the prevalence of violence against women with disabilities;
- Understand and utilize underlying facts about domestic violence;
- Recognize the signs of domestic violence against women with disabilities;
- Apply approaches to preventing violence before it happens;
- Identify and implement opportunities for collaboration; and,
- Much more!

Come with community partners, or establish new partners at the workshop. No pre-existing working relationship necessary. Persons with all levels of experience are encouraged to participate.

This workshop is offered to: disability service provider organizations and disability service recipients/consumers; domestic/sexual violence service providers and prevention advocates; public health nurses; social workers; educators; justice/law enforcement; and others interested in building capacity in the prevention of violence against women with disabilities.
